Group Purchases Two Autos, Equipment For County Offices

The Saline County Board of Supervisors yesterday bought two cars, five typewriters and two adding machines and got a picture of Abraham Lincoln for nothing.

In addition, the board voted funds to repair the clock tower of the court house, which has been a hazard for a long time.

The photo of Abraham Lincoln, a copy of a rare photograph of the President from Illinois, was presented by Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier, who made the trip to Harrisburg by auto for the special occasion. He presented the picture to William Alfred Smith, chairman of the board, for hanging in a suitable place in the court house.

In addition, he gave Smith a miniature bust of the former President.

Purchase Cars, Equipment

Two Ford Fairlane automobiles were bought — one from Wilson-Taylor Motor Co. of Harrisburg and one from Holman Motor Co. of Eldorado for the Sheriff's department. Reason for this, explained Bill Douglas, head of the committee, was because the two bids were but two dollars apart.

The automobiles to be purchased are two 1956 models, straight shift with overdrive, four-door styles with V-8 motors and 202 horsepower. Two to be traded in are the Pontiac and Oldsmobile autos the sheriff and deputies are now using.

Douglas also presented the requests of officers for the following: Three typewriters and two adding machines for the county treasurer; typewriter for the county superintendent of schools; typewriter for the state's attorney. The board voted to buy the equipment.

Accepted Bid to Repair Tower

R. E. Field, chairman of the building committee, submitted a bid of the Egyptian Waterproofing Co. to furnish the labor, tools and material to repair the clock tower, which is in dangerous condition, for a fee of $1,413. There was considerable discussion on this project, since the city owns the clock. In the discussion there was some talk of taking out the clock and sealing off the tower because of the cost of repairing the tower, but the board voted to accept the bid for the job.

Board members said that the clock tower is in such poor condition that a strong wind could push it off the court house.

The board halted its business at 11:30 a. m. for the visit of Secretary Carpentier to present the Lincoln picture.

After declaring the portrait is one of the finest likenesses of Abraham Lincoln yet known, Mr. Carpentier gave the history of the photo.

Follower of Philosophy of Lincoln
He said he long had been a student of Lincoln and a follower of his philosophy, adding that Lincoln's philosophy has been applicable to every period of our history including the present.

"Lincoln visited many of the courthouses in this state and it is fitting that he be honored in all the court houses of the state," Carpentier said. He added that he believed it fitting for the office of secretary of state to see that the honor be carried out.

After reading a paper titled "Lincoln and Saline County," Mr. Carpentier made the presentations to Mr. Smith.

In other actions of the county board yesterday, contracts to L. J. Woodard for gravel and the Egyptian Concrete and Culvert Co. for pipe were approved for Tate township work; the financial report of the Saline County Soil Conservation district was presented by A. K. Gates; and the report of Treasurer Maynard Cannon was approved.

Here is the paper as Mr. Carpentier presented it:

"I have news from Ottawa, that we win our Gallatin & Saline county case," wrote Lincoln to Andrew McCallen, a Shawneetown lawyer and merchant, on July 4, 1851. "As the duty Justice said, when he married folks," Lincoln continued, "Now, were ish my hundred tollars (?)"

The Illinois Supreme Court, meeting at Ottawa, had just invalidated the legislative act of February 11, 1851, which sought to reunite Saline and Gallatin counties and make Equality the county seat.

While Saline county was still a part of Gallatin, Lincoln came down in September, 1840, on his stumping tour of Egypt for William Henry Harrison. Lincoln was a Whig candidate for presidential elector in the "log cabin and hard cider" and "Tippecanoe and Tyler too" campaign.

He made a speech at Equality in reply to Josiah Lamborn, at Shawneetown he spoke at least twice—once in reply to Lamborn and once in reply to John A. McClelland. It was McClelland who shortly afterward moved to Springfield and became a personal friend of Lincoln, and was later congressman and general in the Civil War.

When Senator William J. Gatewood of the Gallatin county district died early in 1842, Lincoln was the one who announced his death at ceremonies in the Supreme Court. Gatewood had served in the Senate for the whole time that Lincoln had been in the House of Representatives.

Lincoln once held the title to a quarter-section of land in Gallatin county. It had been deeded to him as security for the payment of his $100 fee in the case of Dorman vs. Lane. Dorman's wife had in-

Series of Explosions Causes Monster Plane To Plunge to Earth

TRACY, Calif. (AP)—A huge eight-jet B52 atomic bomber, newest and most potent weapon of the Strategic Air Command, exploded in the sub-stratosphere Thursday, showering fiery wreckage over a wide section of northern California.

Four or five airmen were believed killed in the crash—the first involving a B52 since the first one joined the SAC arsenal only eight months ago.

The bomber, dubbed the "Stratofortress" by the Air Force, was from Castle AFB near Merced, Calif. It usually carries a crew of six, but a flight manifest listed a crew of eight aboard for a routine training flight.

The possibility of a fifth victim was revealed by a survivor of the crash who was not identified. He was reported as saying there were nine men aboard.

The four survivors, who parachuted from a height of approximately 30,000 feet, received burns and minor injuries. Maj. Gen. W. E. Eubank, commander of the 93rd Bombardment Wing at Castle, identified them as:

Maj. Michael Shay, 39, Gary, Ind., co-pilot.

Maj. Billie M. Beardsley, 36, Merced, Calif., radioman.

Maj. Harold F. Karger, 37, Atwater, Calif., observer.

M-Sgt. Willard Milo Lucy, 34, Sacramento, Calif., tail gunner.

The Air Force said the names of the four dead men would be released as soon as next of kin are notified.

Karger said the first explosion occurred over Sacramento.

"The blast knocked out the intercom so I don't know exactly what happened," he said. "I jumped at about 32,000 feet when a second explosion set fire to my compartment."

The monster plane plowed into the earth on the Tracy Annex of the Army's Sharpe Quartermaster Depot, disintegrating with a roar that "sounded like an earthquake."

Several buildings were damaged as parts of the plane were scattered over the radius of a mile.

Mrs. Norman Bell, who was standing near her Tracy home when the crash occurred, said wreckage "went flying everywhere" when the plane struck. Two windows in her home were blown out.

STILL WORKING his way through college although a fortune awaits him is Edward J. Allen, 29-year-old Southern Illinois university student at Carbondale. Allen recently learned that his share in an estate at Miami, Florida, left by a wealthy aunt will run between $800,000 and one million dollars. Since he cannot claim his inheritance until he is 30, Allen plans to keep his factory job at Herrin, while attending night classes at the university. He also has worked as a dishwasher, taxi driver and janitor. His wife, Mary, is employed as a fountain attendant. Allen is an industrial education major. (SIU Photo)

House Committee Votes Funds to Triple Work in Federal Parks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee, concerned at overcrowding and deterioration in the national parks, put up enough funds today to almost triple construction work in the parks.

Senate Minority Group Hits High Price Supports

Charge Rigid Props Will Nullify Soil Bank Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—A five-man minority of the Senate Agriculture committee charged Thursday the proposed return to rigid farm price props would injure consumers, farmers and the nation.

The five senators—three Republicans and two Democrats—also charged rigid price props would nullify the administration-backed $1,100,000,000 "soil bank" program.

The senators made the charges in a minority report on the omnibus farm bill approved by the committee last week. The Senate is scheduled to begin debating the bill next week.

The committee's majority argued in their report that the rigid supports proposal provides the only "immediate assistance" to farmers in the bill.

The proposal to restore rigid price supports at 90 per cent of parity—strongly opposed by the administration—was approved 8-7 by the committee. The minority report attacking them was signed by Sens. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM), Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.) and John J. Williams (R-Del.).

They said rigid high supports encourage excess production, interfere with normal marketing, attract foreign imports which aggravate the surplus situation, injure farmers and consumers and are "against the best interests of the country generally."

They said "the great majority of informed opinion favors" the present administration-backed flexible supports.

President Hits Tactics by Part of Industry

Says He Is In Accord with Bill's Objectives

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower today vetoed the controversial natural gas bill because he objected strenuously to "arrogant" tactics by segments of the oil and gas industry to push the bill through congress.

The bill would have freed gas producers from direct federal regulation.

The White House approved the general principals of the legislation but Mr. Eisenhower said the background of the passage of the bill made it impossible for him to accept it.

He obviously referred to the current Senate investigation of lobbying activities brought to light after Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) disclosed just before the Senate voted on the bill that $2,500 had been offered to his campaign fund.

The money was traced to a California oil company executive.

Some "Questionable Activities"

In a veto message to the House, where the measure originated, the President said "a body of evidence has accumulated indicating that private persons, apparently representing only a very small segment of a great and vital industry, have been seeking to further their own interests by highly questionable activities."

"These include efforts," Mr. Eisenhower continued, "that I deem to be so arrogant and so much in defiance of acceptable standards of propriety as to risk creating doubt among the American people concerning the integrity of governmental processes."

Mr. Eisenhower pointed out that investigations of gas bill lobbyists by Congress and the Department of Justice could not be completed within the 10 day period allowed him to consider legislation.

He said that to approve the bill before completion of these investigations "could well create long-term apprehension in the minds of the American people" and do "a disservice both to the people and to their Congress."

At the outset of his message the President explained that he regretted having to veto the bill "because I am in accord with its basic objectives."

Legislation Still Needed
He said legislation to accomplish sub-basic objectives still is needed.

"It is needed because the type of regulation of procedures of natural gas which is required under present law will discourage individual initiative and incentive to explore for and develop new sources of supply," the President said.

Mr. Eisenhower said he thought the present system of regulation would in the long run limit supplies of gas and run counter not only to national interests but to the interests of consumers.

"I feel that any new legislation, in addition to furthering the long-term interest of consumers in plentiful supplies of gas, should include specific language protecting consumers, and their right to fair prices," he said.

The presidential veto apparently kills the legislation, which was approved by Congress after prolonged and bitter debate.

It is highly doubtful that Congress will be able to override the veto.

The Senate approved the bill by a 53-38 vote earlier this month, and the House approved it by a 209-203 margin last year. Both votes are short of the two-thirds majority necessary to override a presidential veto.

The President had left open until the last the question of whether he would sign or veto the bill. He was under heavy pressure in both directions—as were the Senate and House before him in acting on the legislation.

In the end, Mr. Eisenhower rejected the legislation—as did former President Truman when similar legislation was before him in 1950.

Lincoln and Saline County Paper Read by Carpentier

HISTORY DEPT.: An interesting historical paper was read yesterday by Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier when he came to Harrisburg to present the county a portrait of Abraham Lincoln.

It told of Lincoln's dealings with this specific area and was titled "Lincoln and Saline County."

Here is the paper as Mr. Carpentier presented it:

"I have news from Ottawa, that we win our Gallatin & Saline county case," wrote Lincoln to Andrew McCallen, a Shawneetown lawyer and merchant, on July 4, 1851. "As the duty Justice said, when he married folks," Lincoln continued, "Now, were ish my hundred tollars (?)"

Thinking It Over— For Lent

By Robt. Diefenbacher, D.D.

Written for NEA Service

Ash Wednesday inaugurated the Lenten season in a prayerful mood.
On this first Friday of Lent, this mood gains universal significance as the World Day of Prayer, established by the National Council of Church Women.

Millions of people are praying
today for world peace, international understanding, forgiveness from sin, relief from suffering, and for the needs of humanity.

These millions of concerted prayers need to be offered with faith, hope and a universal striving toward the purpose for which they are uttered.

Man has developed such violent machines for destruction that he now lives in fear of self annihilation. President Eisenhower and scores of international leaders have called on the world to pray.

Prayer to God is the only hope for world peace and human preservation. As individuals unite in the great purpose of following the way of God and His love, the reality of peace becomes more possible.

Let us ever continue to pray,
but let all men of good faith regardless of creed or religion unite in their prayers to the Supreme Being for peace among men. There is no better time to extend our efforts than now.

Tornado Hits South; Ice Storm in North

By United Press

The U. S. Weather Bureau warned of possible new tornadoes in the South today and a vast snow and sleet storm iced the north.

The new twister warnings were issued after a tornado ripped Aberdeen, Miss., and wild winds, rain, and hail hit Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

The Kansas City Weather Bureau said there was a chance of a tornado 50 miles on either side of a line from Abilene, Tex., to Sherman, Tex.

A massive zero-zero fog added to the South's weather troubles.
It stretched from Oklahoma City and Kansas City to the southeast Atlantic Coast, leaving only Florida clear.

In the north, a treacherous,
freakish combination of snow,
sleet, and freezing rain extended from west of the Mississippi River to the Ohio River Valley. It was expected to push across the Appalachians into the Eastern Seaboard today.

One Killed By Tornado

In the West, local blizzard conditions were predicted for New Mexico, cold wave warnings were posted for a wide area, and freezing weather moved into southern California.

At Aberdeen, Miss., the tornado killed 1 person, injured 50 others, and cut a mile-long path of destruction.

Texarkana, Tex., was battered by a wild combination of hail, high winds, and rains. Streets were flooded ankle deep and a building was demolished, but no injuries were reported.

An ice storm, which can often cause more hardships than a cold

His Record
Only major-league baseball pitcher to win nine games in one year from one club was Edward M. Reul-bach, Chicago, who defeated Brooklyn nine times in the National League during 1908.

Baby Girl Born To Wheelchair Patient Parents

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—A normal baby girl has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor in what doctors called a "miracle" birth—both parents are wheelchair patients.

The mother, Marchy, 27, has been a cerebral palsy victim since birth. Her husband, 47, has been a victim of multiple sclerosis for eight years.

Dr. Harold D. Chope, county health officer, said the girl weighed 7 pounds, 2 ounces and arrived Wednesday without complications
although she was about 12 days premature.

"The possibility of Mr. and Mrs.
Taylor being married was remote," Chope said. "The possibility of their conceiving a baby was virtually impossible and the birth of a normal child, as a result of the contingency, was miraculous."

research Wednesday night to the Clinical Society of the Pittsburgh
Diabetes Assn.

The research scientist also said recent experiments indicated that progress is being made toward early detection of diabetes, which could lead to the prevention of the disease.

Irvin Rushed To Prison To Await Chair

CHICAGO (U) — Leslie (Mad Dog) Irvin arrived here aboard the streamliner City of Los Angeles today and was hustled off by automobile to the Indiana State Penitentiary and death row.

Irvin, accused slayer of six, was shackled to Sheriff Earl Hollen of Gibson County, Ind.

Hollen, State Police Capt. Robert Dillon and four other Indiana state troopers accompanied Irvin on the trip from San Francisco, where he was captured last week after breaking jail in Indiana.

They were met at the Union Station here by six other Indiana state policemen, headed by Lt. William Cornett.

Irvin was hustled into an unmarked state police car, with a marked Indiana squad car in front of it and another following. The three-car caravan took off for Michigan City, Ind., and was expected to arrive at 1:30 p. m. CST.

Irvin had nothing to say, except to growl, "I wish they'd quit flashing those - - - lights" as news photographers snapped his picture as he was escorted through the station.

Dillon said Irvin was not questioned aboard the train, and did not mention the slayings of which he is accused or his date with the electric chair.

But Dillon said the slayer did talk of his hitchhiking trip to California after his escape from jail, and displayed a "remarkable memory for unimportant details." The mass killer of six persons broke out of the "escape proof" Princeton, Ind., jail, where he was awaiting execution for one of the murders, last month.

Irvin earned the title of the "Chinese execution" killer because he forced his victims to kneel before shooting them in the back of the head. His victims included three members of a Henderson, Ky., family.

Sanity Hearing Set for Nurse Who Shot Rival

MORRIS, Ill. (U) — A petit jury will be convened March 19 to determine the sanity of Mrs. Ruth Leves Olson, under an order issued by Circuit Judge Robert E. Larkin.

Mrs. Olson, 50-year-old county public health nurse, was indicted by a grand jury last week for assault to commit murder in the shooting of her supposed love rival, Mrs. Olson shot and critically wounded Elsa Kussler, 43, secretary to Chairman James Holderman of the Illinois Industrial Commission, because, she said, he had stopped seeing her and she believed he was going out with Miss Kussler.

Two state-appointed psychiatrists reported Mrs. Olson was insane at the time of the shooting last Jan. 14.

If the jury next month concurs with the physicians' findings, Mrs. Olson will be committed to an institution. If the jurors find her sane, she must stand trial on the indictment.

Wife of Lawrenceville High School Teacher Kills Herself

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill. (U) — A mother shot and killed herself Thursday as three of her four children watched television in another room of her home here.

Lawrence County Coroner Willis Nichols said there was no doubt that Mrs. Robert Boreng, 27, shot herself. He said only an inquiry will be held into her death.

Mrs. Boreng shot herself in the head with an automatic pistol while her husband was at his teaching job at Lawrenceville high school.

A neighbor heard the shot but thought it was someone target shooting along a nearby river. Mrs. Boreng's 6-year-old son discovered the body about 15 minutes later and ran to tell the neighbors his mother had a bad nosebleed.

The children range in age from 3 to 7 years.

Dies of Burns

OLNEY, Ill. (U) — Emanuel Ash, 82, died Thursday of burns suffered Wednesday when kerosene he was pouring in a stove flared up.

Ash, who suffered burns over most of his body, crawled to a telephone and called his son for help.

Just a Corpse at Twilight

By Robert Martin

THE STORY: After being shot at and after finding the body of Alice Osborn, who apparently was murdered, James Bennett, an industrial commission investigator, takes Lucy Dorn, a young woman whose interest in the case is mysterious, to a roadside tavern. There they find Wilbur Tweed, an undertaker who had been engaged to Mrs. Osborn, a widow, and Lucy suggests they drive him home.

XIII

It was nine o'clock when I turned Tweed's car into the drive of the Tweed Funeral Home and stopped before the garage entrance. I shut off the motor and got out as Lucy Dorn stopped my car behind me. She came and stood beside me, holding her coat close around her in the chill wind. "He's dead to the world," I said in a low voice. "I'll have to carry him."

"He's too heavy," she protested. "We'll see," I started around the car, but a voice stopped me. "Wilbur," the voice said sharply. "Is that you?"

A dark shadow stood just inside the screen door silhouetted against dim light from inside the house. "Miss Tweed?" I asked softly.

"Yes," her voice was still sharp. "What's the matter? Where's Wilbur?"

"Wilbur's in the car," I said. "He—he don't feel well."

"What's the matter with him?" As I hesitated, Lucy said, "Nellie, you may as well know. We found him at the Buckeye Club and—"

"So that's where he's been since he brought her body here," There was a hard edge to her voice.

"I don't know," I said. "We found him there."

She peered at me. "I can't recall your name."

"Bennett," I said. "We met yesterday."

"Oh, yes," she said shortly. "The insurance man." She opened the screen door and stepped down to the drive.

"We're sorry, Nellie," Lucy said, "but he wasn't in any condition to drive and Mr. Bennett kindly—"

"Thank you," Nellie Tweed said coldly and walked briskly to the car, opened the door and gazed at her brother. I saw her thin mouth twist in distaste.

I said, "Don't blame him too much. He's had a bad shock."

I moved past her and took hold of Wilbur's arm. "If you'll tell me where to put him..."

"Don't touch him," she said sharply. "I'll handle him."

I dropped my hand and said helplessly, "I'll be glad to help."

"I'll manage. Thank you for bringing him home."

Lucy Dorn said, "Nellie, are you sure you don't want some help?"

"Let him wallow in his drunkenness," Nellie Tweed said bitterly. "He left me alone today to take care of everything."

She looked at her brother, and suddenly her expression softened a little. She placed a hand on Wilbur's forehead and for a moment her thin face held a tenderness.

I drove around the square and parked in the lot behind the Winchester Inn. We entered by a back door and I followed Lucy Dorn through a big bright kitchen where two women in white uniforms were working beside a dishwashing machine. A third woman was frying hamburgers at a big stove. They all smiled at Lucy and she said cheerfully, "Hi girls," and went through swinging doors, down a short hallway and entered the lobby.

The elderly gray-haired lady I'd seen at the desk the day before was there now totalling what looked like food checks.

"Hi, Mom," Lucy said. "This is Mr. Bennett. He works for the Welfare Commission. He's something like a-a detective."

Mrs. Dorn smiled. "That should intrigue you, dear." She nodded at me. "Pleased to meet you, Mr. Bennett. Didn't I see you in the bar yesterday afternoon talking to Abner Cornwallis?"

"Yes, Ma'am," I said, removing my hat.

"We're going up to the apartment," Lucy told her mother. "If you need me, just buzz."

"I won't need you. It's been a quiet evening. Run along—oh, by the way, Dr. Dick was asking for you."

Lucy's eyes narrowed a bit. "What did he want?"

"He didn't say, dear."

"If he comes back, tell him I'm out," She turned abruptly and walked away.

Lucy Dorn was waiting impatiently in the hall at the foot of the stairs. Through the archway I saw that the bar was doing a fairly brisk business. At a table near the entrance Sheriff Abner Cornwallis sat with two other men.

I leaned in the archway. "Hello, Sheriff. How's Rosemary?"

"Fine," he said. "She settled right down and made herself to home. I gave her a can of salmon and made a bed for her in the office. She already caught two mice."

I moved down the hall to Lucy. "I thought you'd never come," she complained. "I'm afraid I'll run into Dick, and I don't want to see him." She turned and went quickly up the carpeted stairs. I followed her to the second floor and down a pleasant lighted hall to a door at the far end. She unlocked the door, stepped inside and flicked a light switch. "Come in," she said. "This is home for Mom and me."

I moved into a big room with wide windows overlooking the square. The ceiling was high, the woodwork white, the furnishings bright and tasteful.

On the other side of the room through an open door I saw a gleamed on a refrigerator and a porcelain sink.

Ike Resumes Golf First Time Since Attack

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower resumed his beloved golf game today for the first time since his heart attack last September.
He played nine holes in a creditable but rusty 47 in about 1 1/2 hours.
As the chief executive banded out a 200-yard drive from the first tee of the Glen Arven Country Club course, he said with feeling, "I've been looking forward to this."
The President was so anxious to resume regular golf, that he went out in damp, misty weather.
Since his illness, the President has been limited pretty much to practicing pitch and putt shots with short iron clubs. Today was the first time he has driven with wood clubs since he left the hospital in Denver.
The President as he played the first hole was not putting his full power into his shots. His doctor, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, who followed Mr. Eisenhower's foursome, said the chief executive should not attempt to turn on full power today, nor should he attempt more than nine holes.
The President's physical stamina apparently has come a long way from the worried days of his hospitalization. He spent six hours in the field Thursday hunting quail and bagged his full limit—12 birds.
His host at Milestone Plantation, Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, shot eight bog white in the pine-bordered broom sage field on Humphrey's south Georgia estate.
After a full day in the fields which would have tired many men his junior, the President dined with the Humphreys who had as their dinner guests John Hay Whitney, the New York financier and sportsman, and his wife, and William E. Robinson, president of the Coca-Cola Co.

Zeigler Man Receives Second Prison Sentence

MARION, Ill. (AP) — A Zeigler man already sentenced to prison for one armed robbery was sentenced today for two similar crimes here today.
George Popham, 22, pleaded guilty in Williamson County Circuit Court to robbing a Marion jewelry store and a Colp tavern last month. He was sentenced to two concurrent terms of 1 to 20 years in prison.
Popham received a 1 to 20 year prison sentence in Benton Wednesday after pleading guilty to taking part in a Christopher jewelry store holdup. Popham drove the escape car used by his 17-year-old wife, Shirley, after she robbed the jewelry store. Mrs. Popham has been placed in custody of the Illinois Youth Commission.
It is probable that Popham will serve the sentences from Franklin County Circuit Court and Williamson County Circuit Court concurrently at Menard State Penitentiary.

Accept Proposal to Resume Westinghouse Mediation Talks

WASHINGTON, Ill. (AP) — The A.C.I.O. Electrical Workers today accepted a federal mediation proposal to meet here with company officials Monday for "an all-out effort" to end the 124-day Westinghouse Electric Corp. strike.
The company accepted the invitation from Federal Mediation Chief Joseph F. Finnegan Thursday, hours after Finnegan issued his call to both sides.
Finnegan said "the best interests of all concerned, including the general public, would be served by immediate resumption" of negotiations on the basis of his recommendations Feb. 4.
That referred to his proposals for setting aside the company time study issue in the dispute and negotiating agreement on other issues first.

Hoover Favors Compulsory Attendance At Sunday School

BOSTON (AP) — FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover says every child in the United States should be compelled to attend Sunday school.
Hoover made the statement in an interview with a Roman Catholic priest which appeared in today's edition of The Pilot, official archdiocesan publication.
Hoover was interviewed by the Rev. Finlan Lancaster, of St. Anthony's Shrine, who quoted him as saying he would also urge regular attendance at church and re-establishment of religious exercises in the home.

Du Quoin to Get New Factory

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — A Chicago plastics firm will open a branch factory here in about 30 days.

P. R. Mallory Inc. has agreed verbally to buy a factory shell from the Du Quoin Business Assn. Formal contracts will be signed in 10 days and the plant is expected to be occupied in 30 days.

Mallory President A. R. Taggart said manufacturing operations at the plant will begin as soon as possible after occupancy. The firm will make molded plastic items and a new line of electronic products at the plant.

The firm did not announce what its initial employment will be but officials said it is hoped the payroll will eventually reach 200 persons.

The building now has 20,000 square feet of space and Mallory indicated it may add another 20,000 feet to the plant.

The Du Quoin Assn. values the property at $57,000. It financed the construction with loans from individuals who will be repaid without interest after the sale of the plant.

ORDINANCE
Regulating the Drilling For and Producing Oil and Gas
Be It Ordained by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Galatia, Illinois:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to commence the drilling for oil or gas or to remove or produce oil or gas within the corporate limits of said village without first having obtained a permit to do so as hereinafter provided, and without first complying with all the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 2. Application for such permit shall be made in writing, signed by the applicant or some person duly authorized on behalf of the applicant, and filed with the village clerk. A separate application shall be filed for each well proposed to be drilled or operated. Such application shall state whether applicant is seeking a permit to drill a well for the purpose of producing oil from a limestone formation or for the purpose of producing oil from a sandstone formation. Said application shall state whether or not the applicant owns the right to drill for and remove oil and gas from the land in question and if he does not own said right said application shall be accompanied by a certified copy of an order from a court of competent jurisdiction granting applicant the right to drill for and remove oil and gas from the lands in question.

Section 3. A fee of $300.00 will be charged for each permit issued, which fee in the form of cash or certified check shall accompany the application for permit.

Section 4. Only one permit shall be issued for each sand formation on each ten acre tract and only one permit shall be issued for each limestone formation on each twenty acre tract, unless special reasons therefor are presented and same are approved by action of the President and Board of Trustees of said village.

Section 5. Each application shall be accompanied by a bond secured by a cash deposit in the sum of $5,000.00 or by a bond executed by a corporate surety in said amount, said bond to be conditioned that if a permit is granted the applicant or applicant's assigns will comply with the terms and conditions of this ordinance in the drilling of the well proposed to be drilled, will restore the streets, sidewalks and other public places of the village which may be disturbed by such operations to their former condition, will clear the premises of all litter, machinery, oil, debris, etc., which may have been placed or allowed to accumulate on said premises, will fill up slush pits and restore the premises to their original condition as nearly as same can be done, within a reasonable time after drilling operations are stopped, will pay the village for any and all damage done to streets, sidewalks, paving or other public property, will pay to the village the amount of any increase in cost of insurance on any property owned by said village caused by reason of the drilling, maintenance or operation of such well or wells, and will hold the village harmless from any and all liability growing out of the issuance of said permit or the drilling for oil and gas or the production of same. Such bond shall be approved by the President, filed with the Village Clerk and be kept in force and effect as long as such well or wells are continued in operation.

Section 6. Such application shall also be accompanied by an insurance policy issued by an insurance carrier licensed to do business in the State of Illinois, under which policy said carrier shall agree to pay on behalf of the insured all sums which the insured shall become legally obligated to pay as damages because of bodily injury, sickness or disease, including death, at any time resulting therefrom, and because of injury to or destruction of property, including the loss of use thereof, sustained by any person, persons or corporation caused by or arising out of the ownership, maintenance, drilling or operation of any oil or gas well or wells or devices or equipment used incidental thereto. Said policy limits shall be in the sum of not less than $150,000.00 for bodily injury and property damage, said policies to be approved by the President of the village board and filed with the Village Clerk and shall be kept in full force and effect as long as such well or wells are continued in operation.

Section 7. Each application for a permit, together with policies and other documents required to accompany said application shall first be submitted to the village attorney of said village. On a written statement from said attorney that in his opinion said application complies with said ordinance the President of the village board shall have authority to issue said permit, which shall be attested by the Village Clerk. Supports Plan for New Mississippi Bridge Near Jefferson Barracks

ST. LOUIS — St. Louis County Supervisor Luman F. Matthews has added his backing to the proposed new Mississippi River bridge near Jefferson Barracks.

The bridge originally was proposed by the Jefferson Barracks Bridge Assn., comprised of 15 Missouri and Illinois businessmen. The location would be downstream from the present toll bridge at Jefferson Barracks, connecting south St. Louis county and Columbia, Ill.

Only in a few western states, such as Montana and Nevada, are silver coins still in common use.

Egyptian Democratic Club Holds Rally With State Candidates

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. — The 25th Congressional district Democrats, under the sponsorship of the Egyptian Democratic club, held a rally at the court house in Murphysboro Thursday night. All of the State candidates were there.

Candidate for Governor, Herbert C. Paschen, said in a speech that the Stratton treatment of southern Illinois is another example of broken promises. "When the Republican candidate," Paschen said, "campaigns for office in 1952, he promised southern Illinois that he would come to its aid; instead, he is spending millions for a toll road in prosperous northern Illinois, neglecting the depressed areas in southern Illinois."

Paschen said that he would be Governor for all of Illinois, and not for any special interest or group.

Earlier in the day Paschen and the other State candidates appeared at dinner before the Rotary and Better Business group in Zeigler.

Trees were planted on 3,280 farms in 1955 in connection with tree planting programs in North Dakota. In all, 6,119,085 trees were planted.

Planning Group Questionnaire Sent To Communities

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — The Illinois Division of Industrial Planning and Development today completed mailing a questionnaire to every community in the state with a population of 1000 or more.

The division, a part of the state Department of Registration and Education, was created by the last legislature to assemble information regarding industrial opportunities and to encourage industry to locate in Illinois. Purpose of the present survey is to obtain facts pertinent to new industry for various localities.

Fred R. Falkenstein, superintendent of the division, asked that communities fill out and return the questionnaire as soon as possible to the Division of Industrial Planning and Development, Department of Registration and Education, Room 112, State Capitol, Springfield.

Any smaller town or village which has not received the questionnaire may have it for the asking. The aim of the new division is to help every area in the state interested in securing new industry.

Sauerkraut Originated In China, Not Germany

CHICAGO — The Germans may not admit it, but sauerkraut was invented by the Chinese.

The National Kraut Packers Assn. meeting here said kraut originated in China in about 300 B. C., while the Great Wall was being built. Roving bands of Tartars carried the food to Europe, where it became popular as a German dish.

Godard's Farm Market

TUESDAY FREE CHICK DAY AT GODARD'S

It's just a pretty good idea to come around to Godard's anytime you are in town to see what is going on. We always have free helps to hog raisers, poultrymen, cattle raisers and owners of household pets. We can also help you get rid of farm and household pests. Get the jump on them by using plenty of Purina insecticides in March. That is when they multiply and replenish and just about finish off whatever they start eating on.

Yes, sir, now is the time to come around and take advantage of a wonderful bargain offer at Godard's Farm Market, your Purina Dealer! By registering now you will be eligible to get 50 cockerels and 100 lbs. of Super Startena for just $5.20.

This big bargain day is every Tuesday but you must register before Tuesday, to be eligible and to be sure that Godard's have on hand the number of free cockerels and the amount of extra Startena to supply your needs. Startena is just what it sounds like—the Purina chow that starts baby chicks right and keeps them that way.

Years of experience prove that good chicks started early and raised on Startena can make up to $40 more income per pullets. That income is mostly profit too, coming into production in the early fall months when egg prices are usually high. Come in and let us tell you how to get more early egg profits next fall. Purina products can also help you to overcome your present laying slumps. Let's talk it over.

GET FARM EQUIPMENT Ready!

There's something kinda special about weighing up lettuce seed and measuring sweetpea seed this time of year. It is a promising task that we take pleasure in doing. Promising growth and beauty as spring comes on.

Guess you've heard that talk about "times being unsettled" just like we have. Times have been unsettled since Adam and Eve got mixed up in that apple deal, and we don't know how to settle them, but we know this much: Whether the groundhog saw his shadow or not, the farmer who is ready with his field seed when the weather is right for planting is going to be better off come harvest time. We have the seed, you have the fields—and we have the Purina Feed to meet your needs until you grow your own.

BIRTHS—Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Lamar, Rosiclar, upon arrival of their baby daughter.

DEATH—Our sympathy goes out to the family of Joseph M. Patton, customer and good friend from Pope county, who was found dead in his truck last Saturday.

Mrs. Paul Black, Carrier Mills, Purina Super Laying chow feeder, could probably give anyone valuable tips on egg production. She has 30 hens and for the past 90 days has gathered from 20 to 27 eggs per day.

John Adams, Rt. 3, Harrisburg, Purina hog chow feeder, sold 30 hogs 5 1/4 mos. old which averaged 235 lbs. each, a few days ago. Almost as good a record was made by Kenneth Shires whose Purina fed hogs, of which there were 15, averaged 211 lbs. each before they were six months old.

FOR SALE—28 pigs. John Mundy, Equality.

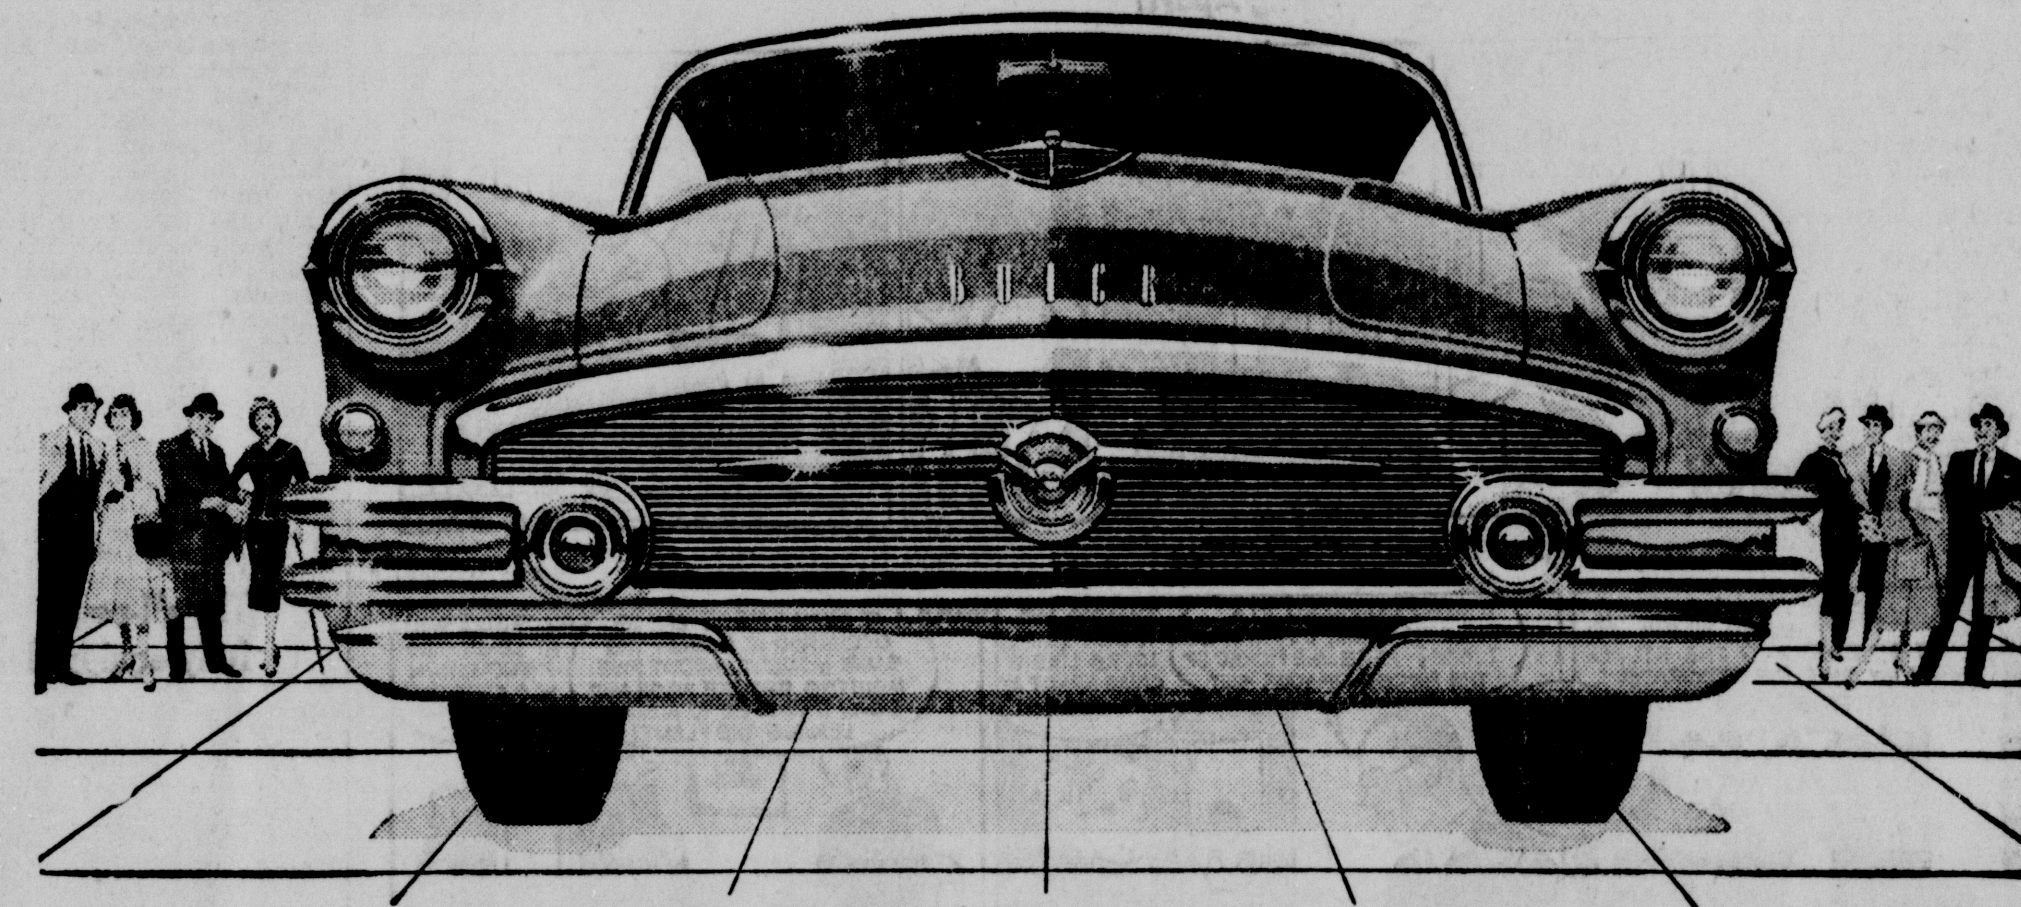

FOR SALE—Garden plow, disc, and drag harrow. Siebe King, 401 E. Ford.

BIG PIGS RUN IN OUR FAMILY MOM GETS PURINA

There were 40 Purina Chow dealers and feeders on that bus that went to the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville on Feb. 4, and we had our pictures made with the stars and at various show places we visited in Nashville. Speaking of pictures, the Grand Ole Opry and about 60 Purina chow feeders of this area will be on WSL-TV at 10:30 p. m. on March 24th. That's kinda late in the day but it's on Saturday night, so all you folks mark the date and plan on sleeping late Sunday morning.

Illini Favored In TV Game With Spartans

CHICAGO — Michigan State's basketball team gets a second chance this week to upset Illinois, so far unbeaten in Big Ten competition, but the Spartans were eight point underdogs for the feature clash with the league-leaders.

The game, at East Lansing, will be the Saturday afternoon television contest and headlines a slate of four conference matches. Other games will be Indiana at Michigan, Wisconsin at Iowa and Minnesota at Ohio State, while Purdue plays a non-conference contest at Notre Dame.

The point spread in favor of Illinois was exactly the margin of difference when the two teams met earlier at Champaign. There the Illini grabbed a 73-65 triumph in the opening conference contest for each club.

Since then Illinois has waded through its opposition with a 93-point scoring advantage, 10 points better than any other team in the league, while the Spartans have lost 3 more games and won 4.

The game will match Illinois balance, with three of the Big Ten's first 10 scorers—George Bon-Salle, Bill Ridley and Paul Judson—against the conference's second best point maker, Michigan State's Julius McCoy. McCoy has averaged 29.5 points per game compared to 20 for Bon-Salle, 19.5 for Ridley and 19.9 for Judson.

Two of the other conference games will be re-matches. Indiana trounced Michigan at Bloomington, 97-73, only last Saturday, but for the battle at Ann Arbor, Michigan was a five-point favorite.

Iowa was hard pressed to defeat Wisconsin at Madison in their first meeting, 79-74, but for the return game, the defending champion Hawkeyes, currently in second place, a game behind Illinois, were a 15-point choice.

Ohio State, in fourth place in the league with 5 wins in 9 games, was an eight-point favorite over the Gophers, who have won 4 conference starts and dropped 5.

Purdue was a three-point underdog against the Irish, while Kentucky was a four-point choice over DePaul for their game in the Chicago Stadium.

Niagara Seen Dark Horse Team In Tourneys After Easy Win Over Seton Hall

By United Press

Mark down Niagara's sophomore-laden Purple Eagles as the "dark horse" team of the post-season basketball tournaments.

The swift, slick quintet which passed up a bid to the Holiday Festival tournament because Coach (Taps) Gallagher didn't "think we were good enough" clinched a bid to the National Invitation tournament with an 87-56 victory over Seton Hall Thursday night and was so impressive that it may be one of the favorites to win the title.

"That's the best club we've played all season," said Seton Hall Coach Honey Russell after his NIT-bound Pirates dropped their third game in 20 starts. "On the basis of what they showed tonight they certainly can win the NIT. They certainly had no trouble with us. We never were in the game."

Gallagher was all smiles but played it safe because the formal invitation from the NIT committee has not yet been extended, although it is expected within 48 hours.

Club Not Tired
"We were good but this wasn't our best game," he said. "I think we'd have a good chance in the NIT—providing, of course we're invited. For one thing we're not a tired club. We've played 21 games but we haven't scrimmaged all year. I'll say this much—if we go to the NIT we'll go into it at our peak."

The Purple Eagles made their victory over Seton Hall look almost ridiculously easy by preventing Dick Gaines from connecting from the outside and thereby exploiting the Pirates' chief weakness—the lack of an outstanding big man.

As a result, six-foot, six-inch Tom Hemans and six-foot, five-inch Alex Ellis swept both backboards to give Niagara complete control of the ball. Hemans scored 18 points and grabbed 20 rebounds while Ellis tallied 19 points and snared 11 rebounds.

Niagara's brilliant performance even overshadowed "Hot Rod" Hundley's annual "comedy hour" in the Garden—a 40-point performance that had 7,165 fans hilarious but was distinctly unfunny to St. John's of New York which bowed to West Virginia, 82-75. Hundley sank 14 of 28 field goal tries and 12 of 15 free throws to get a season's scoring mark at the Garden.

Hundley embellished his performance by clowning in the late stages of the game and won an appreciative hand from the fans when he posed for photographers for some 10 minutes after the game.

In other games, 17th ranked Utah trounced New Mexico, 101-74; Western Kentucky 74, Xavier, Ohio, 65; Evansville 80, Indiana State 73; Fordham 63, CCNY 60; West Virginia 82, St. John's, N. Y. 75.

Niagara 87, Seton Hall 56; Georgia Tech 72, Georgia 68 (ot); Virginia Tech 77, Furman 75; Richmond 90, VMI 68; Utah 101, New Mexico 74.

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

Want to do a little bragging and say lots of "thank you's."

First the bragging. It is my opinion that The Daily Register has had some fine sports pages these past several months. Have come up with full coverage on the football activities of Eldorado and Harrisburg and in basketball extended the coverage to take in all the schools in the Greater Egyptian conference—that is Shawneetown, Ridgway, Equality, Galatia, Rosiclare, Cave-in-Rock, Vienna and Pope County—plus Eldorado, Carrier Mills, Thompsonville and of course Harrisburg and have had fine statewide coverage via the UP wire service.

We also kept up with grade school basketball, but not as completely as high school.

Said at the start was going to do a "little" bragging. Maybe I have done more than a little.

Now for the "thank you's." Whatever we have accomplished in the way of giving you a good, complete roundup of sports news has been due to two things: 1. Desire and effort on our part; 2. LOTS OF HELP AND COOPERATION FROM OTHERS UP AND DOWN THE LINE.

During the football season The Register's complete coverage is confined to the activities of Harrisburg and Eldorado, with Tim T. real close to the local Bull Dogs. I stay just as close to the neighborhood Eagles. I found the school officials and coaching staff at Eldorado always ready and willing to give out information and rode the school bus with the team and coaches to games out-of-town. Tim had the same deal in Harrisburg. He mentioned many times about the fine cooperation he received from the HTHS. We both found this spirit of welcome and cooperation to carry right over into the basketball season.

But when the cage schedule got underway activities and interests were spread over a much larger territory. Tim stayed with Harrisburg and I still had a big interest at Eldorado. But also had an interest at Carrier Mills, plus the members of the Greater Egyptian conference and Thompsonville.

And if The Register was to carry box score coverage on the games played by these schools we were going to need HELP and lots of it. And nearly every place we turned, we found someone ready and willing to give us a helping hand.

Right here at home we have had fine cooperation from the WEBQ sportscasters, Ken Hamilton and Elmer Gladson. They travel up-and-down southern Illinois broadcasting games and if they notice there is no one at the game from The Register they come by the office the next morning with their score book.

And on one occasion I had to use their scorebook, even though I was at the game. In the championship game of the tourney held at Metropolis during the holidays I got so interested in getting a picture of Eldorado with the trophy that I forgot to complete my book—didn't even have the final score. But I got it the next morning from Ken and Elmer.

Another person to go out of his way to help is Tim O'Brien, principal of Pope County high school at Golconda. When we asked if he would have someone call us about Pope Co. games he said "Will do it myself, then will know it has been done." And every morning about 8 o'clock following a Pope Co. game one of The Register phones rings and there is Mr. O'Brien with the info.

Down at Carrier Mills the coaching staff always has found time to assist me in any way and Jim Hearne, the official score keeper for CM games, has furnished us with many a fact and figure.

Carroll Belcher, coach at Vienna, was another to answer our S. O. S. "Kayo" Willis, Darwin Valter, Glenn Dunn, coaches at Equality, Shawneetown and Galatia respectively, also said they would give us a hand—and they have.

We could go on and on, but maybe you have got the idea I wanted to put over.

Many fans have said they liked The Register sports pages and as mentioned in the beginning we think they have been good. But the success has been possible only through the cooperation of those mentioned by name and many others.

But that is true in any phase of news reporting. A reporter can only know what he is told. Of course he or she can't just sit by the phone and wait for someone to volunteer information.

A great deal of effort must be expended and people sold on the idea that you really have a desire to get the news. Then COOPERATION, from the public.

A big, sincere THANK YOU to you all.

And just because basketball is nearly over doesn't mean that The Register has lost interest in your activities. Keep us in mind and let us know what you are doing ALL THE TIME.

FBI Captures Escaped Convict
NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Thurman Arthur Greene, escaped convict and one of the nation's 10 most wanted fugitives, was captured by FBI agents here shortly before Thursday midnight.
The FBI announced the 35-year-old fugitive from the Walla Walla, Wash., state prison was captured at an apartment where he had lived alone, under an assumed name, since last November.
He had been placed on the FBI's "most wanted" list on Oct. 24, 1955.
Greene, who escaped on May 21, 1954, while serving six years for robbery, also was wanted for making his getaway in a stolen car which was later found abandoned in Iowa, the FBI said.
His record included convictions for robbery, burglary, possession of a concealed weapon and assault with intent to murder.

Lehman Charges Firm Pressured Employees to Urge Vote for Gas Bill

WASHINGTON — Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-N.Y.) charged today that a New York state manufacturing concern "pressured" its employees to urge some senators to vote for the natural gas bill.
Lehman said he was supplying pertinent details of the incident to the Senate Elections subcommittee. His information provided the first volunteered lead to the subcommittee for its wide-ranging investigation of attempts to exert "undue influence" on legislators, particularly through campaign contributions.
The subcommittee's broad inquiry is an outgrowth of the disclosure by Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) that he had rejected a $2,500 campaign contribution offered by an attorney and oil lobbyist who was interested in passage of the gas bill.
There have been persistent reports that Case's disclosure, which is under investigation by a Senate select committee, has caused President Eisenhower to lean toward vetoing the controversial gas bill. A senator who supported the bill and who earlier this week discounted the veto reports told Unitherited the land from her uncle, Christopher Robinson; but when she claimed it after her marriage, Lane, who had acted as administrator of the uncle's estate some fifteen years before, brought up an old claim and asked that the land be made over to him to pay this claim.

In the court at Shawneetown, Lane won; and Dorman's attorney, Samuel D. Marshall, sent the papers to Lincoln, asking him to take over in the appeal to the Supreme Court. In his famous letter to Marshall written a week after Lincoln's marriage in which he says, "Nothing new here, except my marrying, which to me, is matter of profound wonder," he speaks of this case: "I believe we can reverse it. . . I will do my best for the 'biggest kind of a fee' as you say, if we succeed, and nothing if we fail."
The case dragged on and on, but Lincoln finally won. Then there was a further delay in collecting his fee; but on April 8, 1853, more than ten years after Lincoln became connected with the case—he finally got the $100, and he and Mrs. Lincoln signed a quit-claim deed releasing all their interest in this land.
One of the finest tributes ever paid to Lincoln was by Bob Ingersoll, famous orator, politician and free-thinker, who practiced law at Raleigh (then the Saline county seat) with his brother Ebon during the 1850's. A plaque marking the site of their law office was recently dedicated by the State Historical society. Ingersoll's father also preached in this section of the state.
"It is the glory of Lincoln," said Ingersoll, "that, having almost absolute power, he never abused it, except on the side of mercy."
"Wealth could not purchase, power could not awe, this divine, loving man."
"He knew no fear except the fear of doing wrong."
"Lincoln was the grandest figure of the fiercest civil war. He is the gentlest memory of our world."

U. S. Bans Arms to Middle East; Halts Tanks to Saudi Arabia

WASHINGTON — Saudi Arabia's ambassador arranged an emergency meeting with the State Department's top Middle East expert today, obviously to protest this country's midnight decision to block shipment of 18 tanks to Saudi Arabia.
Ambassador Abdullah Al-Kharyal requested a meeting with Assistant Secretary of State George V. Allen shortly after the State Department opened for business.
Al-Kharyal told reporters he had not been "officially informed" of the U. S. ban and refused to disclose the purpose of his department call. But the implication was that he would ask Allen for details of the temporary arms suspension and would transmit his country's protest.
State Department spokesman Lincoln White said the action affects all shipments to the Middle East. But he declined to say whether any other shipments are on the high seas or scheduled to leave the United States soon.

Study Whole Question
The administration clamped the ban on shipments following loud congressional protests.
Meanwhile, Britain announced she will continue shipments of arms to the Middle East for the time being. Dispatches from London said the British were caught by surprise when the American announcement was made.
The U. S. action aroused immediate resentment in the Arab world and satisfaction in Israel.
At the State Department, White was close-mouthed about details and implications of the arms ban. He said the whole question of arms shipments to the Middle East is

Older Brother Believes Ike Will Run Again

EL CENTRO, Calif. — President Eisenhower's older brother said Thursday night he believes the nation's chief executive will seek another term.
Edgar Eisenhower, a Tacoma, Wash., attorney, said he believed Mr. Eisenhower would run again because "as long as we're quarreling with Russia" the President would not want to leave his job unfinished.
"Knowing we Eisenhowers and knowing something of the way his mind works, I believe he hasn't finished his job, and until he does finish that job he'll stay on as long as he can," Edgar Eisenhower said.
The President's brother is vacationing on the Imperial Valley ranch near Indio of aviatrix Jacqueline Cochran Odum. He was here Thursday night for the speech of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson at a Republican dinner rally.
Edgar Eisenhower said he had not discussed the question of a second term with the President. But when asked if he thought Mr. Eisenhower would seek re-election, he answered:
"Considering that the family is not against it, the doctors' clean bill of health, present world conditions and all factors involved, I think he will run."
The attorney then said "as long as we're quarreling with Russia" he did not think the President would leave his job unfinished.
"I don't think the job is finished, do you?" Edgar Eisenhower asked a reporter. Then he said that his brother did not like to leave any job unfinished.
